GREAT STRUGGLE RAGING 48 HOURS

Germans Continue Steady Advance Towards Capital of Belgium.

FRIGHTFUL CARNAGE

Nearly Million Men Clashing—French Frontier Covered with Dead and Wounded Combatants.

Frightful carnage is making the great battle now raging for forty-eight hours on the plains of Belgium.

The enormous extent of the German advance indicated by an official announcement from the French war office which admits that Germans east of the Meuse have reached Dinant, while the advance guard is taking positions along the river Dyle. The Belgians are retiring on Antwerp, while the German advance operating through Luxemburg has reached Neufchateau, in Belgian Luxemburg.

The offical statement from the Paris war office says the Belgian lines are slowly giving way before the heavy German assault and retiring "in accordance with the prearranged plan." But nothing whatever is said regarding the positions of the allied army anywhere in Belgium.

The lines marking the battle front where nearly a million men are clashing in the attempt of the German host to sweep through to the French frontier are covered with dead and wounded.

Neither the allied forces nor the invaders have been able to remove the wounded.

Strict censorship prevents detailing the number of casualities, but each great army is pouring a steady fire from modern artillery into the opposing line.

Persistent is the German advance. Antwerp itself is evidently in danger of investment. Louvain, the Belgian field headquarters, is said to be in the hands of the Germans Namur is enveloped by the swinging German flanks. From the south artillery is moving on its fortifications.

From the north near Gembloux another strong force is moving against the city.

The high tide of the battle for twenty-four hours has been between Namur and Dinant. Tirlemont fell before a dashing cavalry charge and is now occupied by a German battery.

The fighting continues from the Swiss frontier to Diest in Belgium.

The Belgian war office, in reviewing the situation, insisted that despite the continued German advance the moral effect of the operations has been a victory for Belgium.

The German troops on the north side of the Meuse have succeeded in gaining the ground to bring them into contact with the allies, it is stated.

After explaining that small boddies of Germans have been able to penetrate far int Belgium, the Belgium statement says:

"Fighting is proceeding on the whole front, extending from Basel, Switzerland, to Diest, Belgium, and in these numerous contracts the more the opposing armies approach each other the more one must expect to hear of an advantage on one side and a yielding on the other.

"Far from being beaten, we are making arrangements for beating the enemy under the best possible conditions."

The London Daily Express estimates that the number of large German vessels captured at sea by the British, French and Russian warships totals 200, with a tonnage of 1,000,000 tons and a value of $300,000,000. The paper says that there are still remaining at sea about 500 German ships liable to capture at any moment.

THE LATE POPE PIUS THE TENTH

Passes Away Day After Doctors Gave Assuring Bulletins.

CARDINALS TO MEET

Body of the Late Pontiff Lies in Room in Which He Expired Shortly After Noon Yesterday.

Rome, August 20.—In charge of the "Penitenzieri," or confessors of the "Penitenzieri," or confessors of nega Pope Pius X, today rested in the chamber in which he died last evening.

Great crowds stood uncovered in St. Peter's Square. Thousands knelt in prayer there, while in all churches supplications were offered by other thousands who revered the venerable head of the church and loved the man for his peasant simplicity.

Official announcement of the death of the Pope was made at 1:20 A. M. today. It was known in official circles, however, at 6 o'clock yesterday evening, noon New York time. Such a delay in announcing the passing of the Pope is not unusual. The Vatican withheld announcement of the death of Pope Pius IX. for 24 hours and there was a similar lapse of time between the death of Pope Leo XIII. and the official announcemen of his passing.

Pope ius died of a broken? heart. Utterly powerless to prevent the European war now in progress, the Pontiff rapidly weakened under the worry and strain. This was followed by a recurrence of bronchial catarrh and gouty manifestations, which had long threatened his life.

Emperor Franz Joseph, of Austria, one of the closest friends of the Pope and always relied upon by His Holiness for support, also contributed a blow which crushed the heart of the gentle prisoner of the Vatican.

The Emperor postponed for ten days receiving Monsignor Scapinelli, who had been sent to Vienna by the Pope with a personal letter addressed to Franz Josef, beggiggn that he be lenient with the Servian nation and not force Europe into a war.

A sufferer for four days from bronchial catarrah, Pope Pius X. sustained a relapse Tuesday and, despite the administrati n of oxygen and every other effort on the part of his physicians to prolong his life, passed away shortly after midnight this morning.

The Pope's condition was aggravated Tuesday morning by an extension of the bronchitis, and he had a high fever. An early bulletin issued by Dr. Marchiafava lef tno doubt that the patient's life was in danger. The sisters of the Pope were convinced that a momentous crisis had arrived, and deeply apprehensive, they lighted candles before the miraculous image of St. Joseph and remained prostrate in prayer.

Early in the afternoon it was reported that the Pontiff had received the lst Communi n.

The ringing of church bells was the announcement to the faithfu of the exposition of Holy Sacrament, and owing to the danger to the Pope's life, to intercede for the Almighty to preserve him.

For a moment in the afternoon the doctors thought that the Pope was dying through suffocation. Fortunately the patient succeeded in expectorating, and for a time, the crisis seemed to be over. Nephritic complications, however, followed, which brought the end.

THE LATE PIUS THE TENTH.

Ceremony of Removal of Fisherman's Ring From Hand of Late Pontiff.

Rome, August 20.—"The Pope is really dead!"

As Cardinal Vanutelli slowly and solemnly uttered these words, the death of the Pope was for the first time officially flashed to St. Peter's from the Vatican palace, and the many bells of Rome rang their sad chorus, while the prelates surrounding the death bed of the pontiff recited the "De Profundis."

Cardinal Vanutelli, garbed in violet, the mourning color of his station, accompanied by other prelates, wearing black capes over their robes, went to the death chamber early yesterday, where Cardinal Merry Del Val, papal secretary of state, awaited them.

The ceremonies about to be performed were most solemn. There was the hush of death over all, save for the low chanting which would pause at the signal of Cardinal Vanutelli that he desired to speak. The Pope's body lay on the bed untouched, for no human hand must come in contact with the body until completion of the ceremony of removing the fisherman's ring A white veil covered the late pontiff's features.

As the Cardinal entered one of the attendants stepped forward and placed a velvet cushion of violet at the right side of the death bed. Cardinal Vanutelli slowly kneeled upon the cushion and murmured a prayer. As the aged cardinal prayed, Mgr. Rigi and Cardinal Del Val, prefect the of the sacred palaces, as well as secretary of state, removed the white veil. The praying ceased and absolute stillness reigned.

At a signal from Cardinal Vauntelli an attendant handed him a silver mallet on a golden tray. This mallet had been used for years in ceremonies similar to that about to be performed.

Mallet in hand, Cardinal Vauntelli leaned forward and tapped the pontiff lightly upon the forehead three times, crying.

"Joseph, Joseph, Joseph!"

There was a pause and Cardinal Vanutelli said.

"The Pope is really dead."

The news was flashed to St. Peter's tower and the news was tolled to the city and the bells of Rome joined in. The prelates kneeled and the "De Profundis" was recited, while the body of the Pope was aspered with holy water. Mgr. Rigi gave the signal for the second half of the ceremony and the master of the chamber approached the death bed. Removing the fisherman's ring, one similar to which has been worn by the Popes from time immemorial, he placed it in a red bag and handed it to Cardinal Mamerlingo. This over, the custodian of the seals presented the seals of the holy see to Cardinal Vanuletti. The rings and seals used by the pontiff in the issuance of holy bills, briefs, and other documents will be broken and shown to the Sacred College as evidence that no document will be promulgated under the name for the dead pontiff.

The apostolic protonotary advanced to the center of the room and all kneeled. He then read the act recording the death of the Pope, the act identifying the body, and the act of the removal of the fisherman's ring and the delivery of it and the seals to Cardinal Vanuletti. Then came the third part of the ceremony.

A detachment of Swiss guards suddenly appeared in the doorway. Saluting Cardinal Vanutelli, the commander-in-chief of the guards advanced and swore obedience. The cardinal then, escorted by the guards and followed by the prelates, retired to his room and donned the robes of his office. He then adjourned to an apartment in another part of the palace, where he will reside until the sacred college shall have elected another Pope.

The Cardinal once in his own apartment, the official message summoning the Cardinals from all parts of the world to Rome to attend the conclave for the election of a Pope, was sent forth. Several cardinals, heads of the archipistopal seats in Italy, will reach Rome tomorrow for the first congregation of the Sacred College. Cardinal Vanutelli will preside

The body of the Pope will be given to the embalmers today, as under the Vatican ceremonial the embalming cannot be done until the Pope has been dead for twenty-four hours. Prof. Marchifa and Dr. Amici, the physician who attended Pope Pius in his last illness, will supervise the embalming, aided by one of the most expert embalmers of Rome.

The viscera of the dead pontiff, after being carefully cleaned and preserved, will be placed in a marble urn and taken to St. Peter's subteranean vaults to be preserved, provided the Pope's will contains nothing about the final resting place, as it is the Pope's privilege to leave the viscera to one of the churches of the city.

POSSIBILITY OF AMERICAN POPE

Great Liklihood of Selection of Successor from This Country.

PRESENT CARDINALS

Half Italian and Half Foreign—Seven English-Speaking and Three Represent These Races.

Rome, August 20.—The chances of the election of a foreign Pope, possibly an American, as successor to Pope Pius X., during the conclave to be held within ten days, are greater than at any time in the history of the Catholic Church.

For the first time in history the Sacred College is directly representative of the entire Catholic world. It is literally an "international" body, whereas in the pasta vast majority of the cardinals have been Italians. The creation of cardinals by Pope Pius has wiped out this big majority.

As now constituted the Sacred College is composed of half Italians and half foreigners. The English-speaking nations now have seven cardinals of their own, while three others are regarded as representing indirectly the English-speaking races.

It is considered certain that the European war may also have great weight in the selection of the new Pope. Although the conclaves are supposed to be removed from all outside political influence, the election of a Pope always has developed into a political struggle between the nations of the Triple Eutente and the Triple Alliance, now at war.

Until the time of Pope Pius the power of veto was several times exercised, even in the conclave, by Cardinals who had come to Rome with instructions from the monarch of their nation that the election of some cardinal believed to be friendly to another power should not be permitted.

Pope Pius was elected because of the veto registered by Cardinl Puzyna against Cardinal Rampolia on behalf of Emperor Franz Josef of Austria.

It was because of this interference that Pope Pius issued new orders for the conduct of the conclave. Previous Popes, of course, have denied the right of France, Spain or Austria to veto the election of any Pontiff, but failed to make any provision insuring its enforcement.

The order of Pope Pius abolishes the veto and inflicts the sentence of ex-communication upon any carlinal or any other person who attempts to exercise it. As a consequence it is expected that the conclave at which the successor of Pope Pius will be selected will be free from such interference.

The English-speaking cardinals now in the Sacred College are Cardinals Gibbons, Farley, and O'Connell, of the United States; Bourne and Gasquet, of England; Begin, of Canada, and Cardinal Logue, of Ireland. In addition to these, however, there is Cardinal Merry del Val, who, although of Spanish origin, was educated in England and is of pronounced English proclivities. Cardinal Falconio, although Italian by birth, is a naturalized American citizen and for years was apostolic delegate at Washington. Cardinal Martinelli, his predecessor at Washington, was always consulted by Pope Pius on affairs relating to the United States.

WRIT OF ERROR GRANTED.

Culpeper Suit, by Whilh Tolson Was Gainer, Reviewed by Cardwell.

Richmond, August 20. — Judge Richard H. Cardwell, in the Supreme Court of Appeals, Monday allowed a writ of error and supersedeas on a petition of Peter B. Bradley, Robert S. Bradley and others, through their attorneys, Keith and Richards, of Warrenton.

The appeal is from the decsion of the Circuit Court of Culpeper County, rendered February 28, 1914, by which F. S. Tolson, suing the petitioners for $1,500 damages and relief from a debt secured by a deed of trust dated July 2, 1908, was completely the gainer.

The petition of the Bradleys asserts that Tolson, through G. S. Triplet, their agent, bought from them a tract of land lying on the west side of the road from Jefferson to Remington, in Culpeper County, taking the land in gross, and not by the acre, and agreeing to pay for it $5,250 The petition further asserts that Tolson, when he found that the tract contained less land than he had been led to suppose from Trplett, sought to recover damages, and was successful in the Culpeper court.

However, say the petitioners, they had made no direct declaration of the acreage in the tract, and Tolson did not have it surveyed, believing he would be the gainer by buying it in gross at the sum named, since he would receive a surplus he believed to lie in the tract over the acreage contained in the tract according to the view of the sellers.

MANY ARE STILL TAX-DODGERS

Examiner Sands So Reports to State Tax Commission in Richmond.

LARGE SUMS OMITTED

Suggests Prompt Prosecutions of Prominent Men of State for False Swearing to Tax Returns.

Richmond, August 20.—Citizens of large wealth and influence in Virginia, some of whom hold positions of prominence and great responsibility in the State, but none of whom he specifically names, are accused of perjury by Mayor William H. Sands, Examiner of Records for the Tenth District, in a paper he has submitted to the State Tax Commission for the information of that body.

These men and many others he charges with swearing falsely for the purpose of evading payment of their just taxes. Astonishing disclosures are made with reference to tax dodging that has been persisted in for many years. The Commonwealth and the mechanic, the artisan, the farmer, the small householder and others of moderate means have been the sufferers. The examiner of records lays emphasis on that fact, showing that the burden of the rich man has been carried upon the shoulders of the poor.

The suggestion Major Sands makes to the Tax Commission, which is now in session and whose program of procedure may be shaped to meet unsuspected conditions revealed by the examiner, are summed up briefly thus.

On the general subject of taxation he says that reductions can be and should be made at once for the benefit of people of moderate means.

On the question of equalization, there can be none until there is a disclosure of holding by wealthy taxpayers.

On segregation. "It is impossible," he tells the Tax Commission, "until you are informed of values of things or properies justly available for segregation; though you can guess at it or continue the burden on the small taxpayer."

The remedy he prescribes is appointment by the Governor or State Auditor of one or more officers to review assessments made by Commissioners of Revenue, giving them power to compel disclosures and imposing severe penalties for false returns.

Speaking of the evasion of taxes by making false oath, Major Sands says. "I know the facts. Many would dislike to have their sworn tax returns exposed. For years some have sought to abolish the office of examiner, but to one and all making that attempt, I have only to refer to their individual cases or show the reasons actuating their move. This applies not only to the wealthy, but to others."

While no reference is contained in the report to what the office he is holding is worth to the examiner, it is learned that his commissioners amounted last year in Richmond to $3,500 and in Henrico County to approximately $2,700. This was brought out after the Tax Commission began consideration of the paper handed in by Examiner Sands. The latter finds millionaries with no property returns.

They had landed at Belvoir and thoughtlessly kindled a fire, which is forbidden on a federal reservation.

They were ordered to fall in and follow the caretaker, who soon arraigned them before U. S. officers. The prisoners plead ignorance of the law. The officers, after admonishing the knights of the razor, allowed them to depart.

His resignation will take effect on September 1st, and it is expected that early in the month a joint session of Common Council and Board of Aldermen will be held for the purpose of electing his successor. In his letter of resignation Mr. Lawler stated that he would use his best efforts in Council for the benefit of the police department. Regret at his leaving the board was expressed by Mayor Fisher and Commissioners Shinn and Knight.

Attention was called by Commissioner Lawler to the condition of two unoccupied brick dwelling houses on the east side of Washington street, between Gibbon and Franklin, which he stated were a menace to pedestrians. PREVAILING HEAT WAVE

Mercury High Up in the Nineties Yesterday—Heat Prevented Sleep Last Night

The weather has been hot this week and the high humidity has brought suffering to man and beast. The mercury in the thermometer yesterday afternoon was forging toward the one hundred mark. There was but little change in conditions last night, zephyrs at long intervals, but they brought no substantial relief. During most of the night young and old sweltered and were glad when the day broke.

There has been no change in conditions today, and the Weather Bureau holds out no hope of the early passing away of the prevailing hot wave.

While prostrations and deaths from heat are reported in other cities, no fatalities have occurred in Alexandria, nor have there been any cases of sun stroke so far.

ARRIVALS FROM WAR ZONE.

Weep for Joy When They Behold Statue of Liberty.

New York, August 20.—Ten hundred and eighty-two more refugees from the European war zone, most of them Americans, reached New York yesterday on the Red Star liner Finland, after an exciting voyage. Some of the passengers wept for joy when they saw the Statue of Liberty looming up through the mist at the gateway of New York.

On board were 252 first-class passengers, 215 second-class passengers, and 615 steerage passengers. Most of the refugees were penniless and without baggage.

One of the most graphic stories was brought back by James A. Patten, the Chicago "wheat king," who, with Mrs. Patten, was in Carlsbad when the war broke out.

"The scarcity of food in Germany is appalling. I doubt if the food supply will hold out longer than two months," said Mr. Patten. "We left Carlsbad in an automobile, and at Nuremburg on August 4 caught a train for Cologne. The train was stopped at Herbestahl on the Belgian border. A bottle of beer and three slices of bread was the only food we could procure."

Just received Clams and Crab meat Clam Chowder on Saturday. Henry Carson Corner Cameron and Fairfax streets.

GOD, GIVE US PEACE

The world's a-tremble with the tread
Of millions of her fighting men,
The bodies of the shriveled dead
Pass into common clay again.
And at their doors the women stand
With starving babes at shrunken breast,
And wail their mourning of the band
That perished in the war god's quest.
O God, Thy people cry to Thee,
Who know'st all the fruits of war.
Wilt Thou not hear? Wilt Thou not see?
Or is there punishment in store?
Lord God, Thy splendor shines again
Magnificent with earth's surcease;
Grant mercy on Thy children then,
And pity, God, O give us Peace!

SPREADING OF THE WAR ZONE.

A war cloud is plainly discernible in the antipodes. Germany, as was supposed from the first has defied the ultimatum of Japan that the Kaiser abandon Kiachow, China, and turn that place over to the celestial empire. The Japanese Ambassador has left Berlin and a struggle in the Orient is now inevitable.

The Germans have determined to resist the Mikado and are prepared to defend Kiachow. They have mined the harbor and made other preparations to withstand a siege.

This means that Germany has another foe to fight, and that, too, thousands of miles away. While Japan has less than fifty million people, China, which is naturally inimical to Germany, desires to get back territory of which she was virtually robbed. That country is believed to number close to five hundred million souls: hence Germany at present finds herself fighting about half the people on earth.

The commerce of the fatherland has suffered terribly during the frightful struggle now going on in Europe. Her merchant marine has either been captured or bottled up, and should the country emerge with honor from the general war now bringing such distress in Europe, it will require many years for Germany to catch up.

There is every reason to believe Japan will sooner or later compel the Germans to leave Kiachow, in which event their prestige will receive a black eye.

VENERABLE PONTIFF PAYS DEBT OF NATURE.

As had been anticipated during the past few days, Pope Pius the Tenth, has passed away to join the many who have occupied the Vatican during the centuries which have elapsed since the advent of the Christian era. The venerable Pontiff was "an old man and full of years" when he was called upon to take upon himself the great responsibility and labors incident to he position of Chief Shephard over two hundred and fifty millions of the faith of which he was head. Earnest and active in subordinate positions in the church, throughout his earlier life, he carried his industry with him into the Vatican, and during the eleven years he had been Pope worked assiduously to carry out the policies which he believed to be for the welfare of his church.

While a large percentage of the people of the world at present reject prelacy as taught by the largest branch of the Christian world, those who have made a close study of the life of the occupant of the Papal throne, see many principles in the late Pontiff to admire, acts which form the basis of Christianity in all organizations. Like the Master, he followed, "he was mindful of the poor," which, after all, will be a more potent passport into the kingdom of heaven than many of the pyramids of wood, hay and stubble," which are beng accumulated in this day in the name of the meek and lowly Nazarene.

A biographer once asked Abraham Lincoln for a synopsis of his life for an encyclopedia. The rugged American replied. "It can be found in one line in Gray's Elegy—'The short and simple annals of the poor.'" The same can be said of Joseph Sarto, the last Pope.

He was born at Priese, near Venice, June 2, 1835, the child of poor peasants. He rose to a station considered by millions of people the most exalted in the world. Talent displayed at an early age and developed to an extraordinary degree, deep piety, broad human sympathy and tireless energy brought about his marvelous success. All his life he held the love of his fellow men. He was the "Pope of the Poor."

A HUMILIATING EXPLANATION.

Police Justice Caton was compelled to make a humiliating statement in Police Court this morning. A farmer had been arraigned for refusing to pay a market fee for refusing produce from a wagon on Royal street. Market Master Lyles declared that he attempted to collect the money, as he has been in the custom of doing, by orders of the Commissioners of the Sinking Fund, who control the market. Justice Caton said that the laws of the city of Alexandria were in such condition that he was unable to locate any law on the subject and would have to consult the Commissioners as to their authority for collecting a fee from wagons outside of the market.

The Gazette has on many occasions called the attention of Council to the necessity of codifying the laws of the city. There are no copies in existence of the laws and it is impossible to find out what laws are in effect. Perhaps the new Council, which meets on September 1st, may remedy the situation. Let us have the laws sodified and print, no matter what is the cost.

STUART'S INCOME $76,537.

Thomas Fortune Ryan on Nelson County Books with Income of of $150,000.

Richmond, August 20.—Nelson and Russell Counties lead Central and Southwest Virginia in income tax returns, according to the reports of the Commissioners of Revenue from that section. Two men, Thomas Fortune Ryan, and Governor Henry Carter Stuart, are responsible for the large totals, the former swelling the Nelson County aggregate by $150,000, and the latter adding $76,587 to the taxable income revenue of Russell County.

Thomas Fortune Ryan has the largest income yet reported in Virginia. There are as yet more than forty commissioners' books to be returned to the office of C. Lee Moore, State Auditor of Public Accounts. These represent nearly that many counties. All of the cities, with the exception of Buena Vista and Norfolk, have been checked, and these will probably be in before the end of the week.

Fatal Accidents.

Victoria, Va., August 20.—J. L. Hazelwood, a car inspector for the Virginian Railway Company, at Victoria, was accidentally killed Tuesday morning at 8 o'clock, while attempting to cross the track between two cars, one of which was struck by shifting engine just as he was between them, catching him between the two drawheads and mashing him through the stomach.

Richmond, August 20.—E. Lester Grubb, a conductor on the Oakwood and Main street line of the Virginia Railway and Power Company, was crushed to death between two cars early Tuesday morning as his car left the barn for the day's run.

UTAH'S NATURAL BRIDGE.

The Secret of Its Origin Somewhat Puzzles the Scientists.

What is thought to be the largest natural bridge in the world is that of southwestern Utah, known as the George natural bridge. The total length of this great work of nature is about 200 feet; its width—i. e., the "roadway"—is about thirty-five feet; the span in the clear is about ninety feet. At the base there flows a small water course which, during the hot months, dwindles to a mere rivulet.

Scientists are somewhat perplexed to explain the means by which nature produced this bridge. It is thought hardly possible that it could have been created by water erosion, unless, as was most unlikely, there was a very large and swift stream flowing at the point where the brook now runs.

Some authorities are inclined to the view that this bridge was due to volcanic action, occurring at some remote geological period.

Although long known to the Indians, it was not until about fifteen years ago that white men became familiar with the sight of it. Mining prospectors were the first of the whites to see it, since it is located in the heart of a very rugged and inaccessible region.

The span is composed of a dark brown standstone of unusual hardness, and the thickness of the span is twenty feet or more.

Had Trouble with Her Stomach.

"About four years ago I began to have trouble with my stomach and found it necessary to eat sparingly," writes Mrs. Bernice Wyandt, Lima, Ohio. "There was a dull and heavy feeling in my stomach after eating that was most uncomfortable. I was also annoyed by frequent headaches. After taking a number of medicines without benefit I got a bottle of Chamberlain's Tablets and found they were just the thing. Two bottles of them rid me of this complaint." For sale by all dealers.

Recovered from Lung Trouble—Now Insured

Insurance companies will not accept any one affected with Lung Trouble. When you know a man who has been afflicted and who later has been insured, such action means that the policy-holder must be in a very good state of health. Cases have been reported when Lung Sufferers, after taking Eckman's Alterative, a remedy for Throat and Lung Troubles, have successfully passed the medical test of insurance companies. Read this case:—

237 Dean St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

"Gentlemen: About a year and a half ago I noticed that my health was rapidly failing. I was troubled with night sweats, a severe cough and was very weak; having, in fact, absolutely no ambition whatever. About this time I consulted a physician, who told me my lungs were affected. Not satisfied I went to another doctor, who, after examining me, said that I was in the first stages of Lung Trouble. At this point I started to take Eckman's Alterative. The night sweats stopped almost immediately, my cough became looser and gradually disappeared. My weight is now 142 pounds and my physician has pronounced me perfectly sound—which, together with the fact that I have just been accepted by two different insurance companies for insurance, makes me sure of my entire recovery by Eckman's Alterative."

(Affidavit sworn to before N. P. GEE.)

Eckman's Alterative has been proven by many years' test to be most efficacious for severe Throat and Lung Affections, Bronchitis, Bronchial Asthma, Stubborn Colds and in upbuilding the system. Contains no narcotics, poisons or habit-forming drugs. Ask for booklet telling of recoveries, and write to Eckman Laboratory, Philadelphia, Pa., for evidence. For sale by all leading druggists

HELD ON MURDER CHARGE.

Witnesses Tell of Having Met Suspect On Road on Night of Crime.

Hampton, Va., August 20.—The coroner's jury investigating the cause that led to the death of George W. Faires, who was shot down on the doorstep of Mrs. Edward Holloway Saturday night, rendered their verdict Tuesday night, fixing the blame on Edward Holloway, the divorced husband of Mrs. Holloway, who was apprehended at an early hour Sunday morning. He was arrested at the home of his mother in York County, 15 miles from the scene of the shooting.

At the inquest several witnesses testified to having seen Holloway early Saturday night, one witness testified to having purchased two shells for Holloway and identified the one found at the Holloway home loaded and the one empty found at the home of the prisoner's mother's.

Three colored witnesses testified to having given Holloway a lift in their wagon Saturday night after he had been dropped at the gate of Howard Collier, a farmer, who had invited him to ride with him as far as he (Collier) was going.

The three colored men testified that Holloway gave the name of Watson to them. The former wife of Holloway told the coroner that her former husband was the man who did the deed. She also told of his persecution of her since her divorce and of cruelties practiced on her by Holloway during their brief marriage.

The police claim to have found other witnesses who will be introduced when he trial takes place in October.

Holloway sits in his cell at the jail and still maintains a dogged silence.

A cable dispatch received at Milan, from Port Said says: "Traffic through the Suez Canal has practically ceased. The port is crammed with ships of all nations. Besides, there is a colossal fleet of German merchantmen under seizure. They have been deprived of the essential pieces of their engines, likewise of their wireless installation. The whole of German's sea-borne commerce with Australia, Asia, and East Africa is absolutely paralyzed, and the only vessels passing through the canal are those flying the Italian flag. These are besieged by hordes of foreigners anxious to get away from Egypt."

No, Prohibition does not Prohibit, but do you know that the per capita consumption of Liquor in Prohibition Kansas is $1.25, while the average in the United States is $21? The $19.75, in Kansas helps to feed and clothe the wife and children.

Passed $3,500 Worthless Check.

Lynchburg, Va., August 20.—L. M. Gardner and A. H. Adams, who claim Salyersville, Ky., as their home, were arrested here yesterday charged with getting goods under false pretenses. They registered at a hotel Saturday night and left three alleged certified checks for $12,500 on the Sublett Commercial Bank, of Salyersville, with the hotel ,the receipt for which, it is alleged, they used as basis of credit in the city. One firm is said to have sold Gardner $3,500 worth of shoes on a check which proved worthless. The men were arrested while endeavoring to purchase several diamonds. In their room at the hotel were found numerous blank checks and other material for drawing and protecting checks.

MRS. ELIZABETH LOVE DEAD.

Winchester, Va., August 20.—Mrs. Elizabeth Byrd Love 75 years old, widow of Dr. William S. Love, died here yesterday. She was a daughter of the late Charles James Faulkner, of Boydville, near Martinsburg, W. Va., Minister to France during Buchanan's administration. Favorite Remedy for Diarrhoea.

"About three years ago I had a serious attack of summer complaint. The doctor's medicine failed to benefit me so I sent for a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy upon the recommendation of one of my neighbors. One dose of it did me more good than all the other medicine I had used. I improved rapidly and in a short time I was well," writes Mrs. Mary Higgins, Peru, Ind. For sale by all dealers.
